

Workers' Compensation Fraud is a Crime

If your company lies about job descriptions to pay lower insurance premiums or lies about your accident occurring at work, your company has committed fraud.

If you lie about a job-related injury or exaggerate your injury to remain off work, you have committed fraud.

If you are convicted of fraud you can go to jail and be forced to repay up to three times the amount of money you collect on your claim.

If you fail to report alternate income received from other work activities while drawing Temporary Total Disability (TTD), you have committed fraud.

If someone is cheating the system report it at 877-WCF-UNIT (923-8648).
